IN TERROR OF MOB

SECOND EXODUS FROM SPRINGFIELD IS UNDER WAY.

Victims of Recent Outbreak Fear Reduced Force is Inadequate for Their Protection—Officials, However, Are Confident of Ability to Control.

Fear and terror prevailed in the homes of Springfield, Ill., negroes Wednesday night. The departure of two regiments of infantry Wednesday and the announcement that two more organizations would be sent home Thursday caused consternation among the colored residents.

"The mob will be here sure if those soldiers go away," they said, and delegations were hastily organized and sent to the state, county and city officials to protest against a relaxation of the military regime. The authorities to quiet this feeling were only partially successful and in many an humble home there was no sleep before dawn. Every footfall or challenge of a sentry sent quivers of alarm among the anxious watchers.

Scores of terror-stricken blacks sought refuge in the arsenal. Early in the evening almost twice as many applications for shelter had been received there as on previous nights and about 300 negroes curled up in the corners of the balcony sleeping on the floor or curled up in chairs.

The exodus of negroes which had begun to abate was renewed. Trains and trolley cars were used by those who had a little money, but many of the unfortunate took to the roads, tramping across the country in a drizzling rain, until exhaustion forced them to seek rest in corn fields or in wood lots. The children and aged who were driven out suffered heavily and it is feared many of them will succumb to the hardships.

The special grand jury Wednesday examined nearly two score of witnesses but made no return of its proceedings. Unusual precautions as to secrecy have been taken and the identity and testimony of the persons who have appeared to give information against rioters have been carefully guarded.

Threatening anonymous letters, which began to arrive at the offices of officials as soon as the repressive measures began, were received in increased numbers Wednesday. No attention is paid to these letters, but several merchants who have received similar conditions are beginning to feel alarmed.

MANY HURT BY EXPLOSION.

Thirteen Men are Seriously Injured by a Dynamite Blast.

Thirteen men were seriously injured, six of them probably fatally, when a charge of dynamite exploded Wednesday at Detroit, Mich., under a drill vessel, which had been working on the New Livingston channel. The day shift started to clean out the hole when the drill lay, preparatory to a blast, when a charge of dynamite left in the hole by the night shift exploded.

Among the injured is Paul Truesdale, United States government inspector, from Madison, Wis. He is painfully bruised and shaken up.

ENGLISH MINE HORROR.

Seventy Men Entombed in Shaft by Explosion at Wigan, Eng.

It is believed that not a single man of the seventy miners entombed by an explosion Tuesday in the Maypole mine survived the disaster. Wednesday the mine was cleared of gases. Not far from the bottom of the shaft eighteen bodies were found frightfully mutilated, with legs and arms blown off and heads battered beyond recognition.

The rescuers were forced to suspend work Wednesday afternoon, as the mine is now on fire.

PLANS SPEEDY TRIAL.

Prosecutor to Hurry Hains Brothers Into Court.

Of far more interest than the formal arraignment in the police court of Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., who shot and killed William E. Annis, advertising manager of a magazine, on Saturday at the Bay Side Yacht club landing, in New York, while his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, held at bay a crowd of yachtsmen who sought to prevent the tragedy was evidence which came into the hands of District Attorney Darrin bearing upon the motive for the shooting.

It was established that Capt. Hains and Mr. Annis were on such friendly terms that they went automobile on May 29 last. Two women were in the party, and the police believe the women were Mrs. Hains and Mrs. Annis. A motorcycle policeman arrested the party for speeding in Ocean parkway. The case was postponed in the court and is still on the calendar.

The party was in Mr. Annis' automobile and the police held Annis in $100 bail. Annis only had $20, so the police were about to lock him up when Capt. Hains stepped forward and handed the prisoner four $20 gold pieces, thus obtaining his release.

"I have also been told by friends of both Capt. Hains and Mr. Annis that this friendship ceased after a talk the captain had with his brother, T. Jenkins Hains," said the district attorney. "I intend to have Jenkins tried as an accessory after and before the fact, as I believe he is as guilty as his brother. It was his letter to Capt. Hains that made the latter hurry home from the Philippines and question his wife concerning her alleged conduct with Mr. Annis, and it was T. Jenkins Hains who prevented anyone from stopping Capt. Hains from shooting Mr. Annis."

Another remarkable feature of the case is the friendship which exists between Mrs. Annis and Mrs. Claudia Hains, Capt. Hains' wife. Mrs. Hains called upon Mrs. Annis Monday afternoon, it was learned, and remained with her until nearly midnight.

ROADS PROD COAL DEALERS.

Tell of Danger of Shortage in the Northwest.

Western freight officials are complaining because of the exceedingly light movement of coal toward the northwest and point out that unless early orders are placed a severe winter is likely to bring about a recurrence of the coal famine two years ago. At that time the failure of dealers and consumers to lay in an adequate supply was followed by an unusually cold winter combined with a car shortage, and thousands of people in Minnesota and the Dakotas suffered and many perished.

Last year the consumers as well as the dealers became frightened at the possibility of another fuel famine and ordered early, so that the mild winter found them overstocked. This year railroad men say, there is scarcely any movement of coal to the northwest, either from the Illinois coal fields or from the head of the lakes.

Freight officials think the dealers ought to be taking advantage of the present low prices and the large number of cars idle to lay in a supply before the heavy grain movements begin. The roads are admittedly selfish in this supply, as they are, of course, anxious to increase their business during dull season, but they declare that a far-sighted policy is the way of avoiding serious consequences if the coming winter should be a severe one.

The upper works were entirely blown to pieces.

CASTRO HITS FRANCE.

Brazil Not Permitted to Look After Her Interests.

A sensation has been caused in diplomatic circles by the refusal of President Castro to permit the Brazilian minister to take charge of French interests in Venezuela, although Dr. Jose Paul, the Venezuelan minister of foreign affairs, originally agreed to this arrangement. As a result of this attitude of the president the foreign minister has indited a second note to the effect that the government now refuses to accede to this arrangement because the dispute between Venezuela and France bears a close relation to Venezuela's dispute with the United States, and the proposed arrangement would therefore endanger the continuance of friendly relations with Brazil.

The French interests are necessarily being neglected, and many monthly installments due to French claimants are still uncollected. It is very unlikely, in view of the present state of affairs, that President Castro will permit the representative of any of the foreign countries to take the French interests in hand.

President Castro left Tuesday for a trip to Barquisimeto, embarking on the gunboat Restaurador for Tucucas, which is about twenty-five miles from Puerto Cabello. The president invited the British minister to accompany him, which is believed to be significant in view of the present crisis.

ALLEGED DETECTIVE PLOT.

Sensational Charges Follow Arrest of a Miner in California.

The arrest by private detectives in Los Angeles, Cal., Sunday of Fred Yockey, vice president of Union No. 44 of the Western Federation of Miners, at Kandsburg, Cal., on the charge of conspiring to blow up the Yellow Aster gold mine with dynamite, has developed a complicated situation. Yockey was arrested, it is said, upon complaint of Mrs. Alice G. Clark, a detective working for a detective agency, retained by the Yellow Aster Mining company to secure certain evidence. According to published stories Mrs. Clark now charges that all of the accusations against Yockey are false and says that she was compelled to swear to them by another detective, who forced her to sign the statements at the point of a pistol. The whole plot, she avers, was an effort to break up the miners' union at Kandsburg.

"The evidence trumped up against me is just like the evidence that was made to order for the prosecution of Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone," said Yockey. "It is a parallel case exactly. There was not anything doing up in the Kandsburg country and some detectives simply worked out a plan to make business good. I do not take much stock in the story that the company was being robbed of rich ore—nothing to that that I know of. There has been a strike against the Yellow Aster since 1903, and, of course, it is not friendly with the union."

TOURISTS CAUSE A RIOT.

Troops Restore Order After Many Are Wounded.

Many thousands of tourists returning from the festivities at Yaguache, were forced to remain in the station at Duran, which is opposite Guayaquil, because of the lack of steamers to carry them across the river. The tourists, enraged at the delay, wrecked the offices of the Guayaquil and Quito Railway company and pillaged the neighboring stores. The civil authorities of Duran being unable to restrain the rioters, asked for troops from Guayaquil, and these were sent over. Order was eventually restored after many of the rioters had been wounded.

ELOPING WIFE WORKS HUSBAND

Secures Release from Jail, a Diamond Ring and Elopes Again.

About two weeks ago Perry Marsh, a wealthy stock dealer residing a few miles south of Plattsmouth, left his wife and family and eloped with Mrs. M. W. Pratt, a neighbor's wife, and his 3-year-old daughter. They went to Grand Forks, N. D., where he rented a room for her, and then returned to Plattsmouth and disposed of quite a quantity of property and then returned to Mrs. Pratt. The husband of Mrs. Pratt traced him back where his wife was and caused her arrest and confinement in jail until his arrival. After what appeared to have been a happy reconciliation with her husband, after much persuasion, she consented to return to Plattsmouth with her husband and was released.

To properly celebrate their reconciliation she persuaded her husband to buy a fine diamond ring and other valuable presents for her. The next day they were to start for home, but she claimed to be ill and told her husband that she had to take the child on the trip to Plattsmouth, but would remain there and receive treatment and let him come back and sell his farm and return to his loving wife. Pratt bade his wife and little daughter goodbye and took his departure for home. Mrs. Pratt packed her belongings and secured a lively rig and with her little daughter and Marsh they drove to a town on the Northern Pacific and went to Winnipeg. Mrs. Pratt informed the citizens that she would never return to Nebraska with her husband and considers herself fully revenged for her arrest and imprisonment. The parties have resided in the vicinity of Plattsmouth for many years and are well known.

BLAIR MAN KILLED BY CARS.

Falls Under Train While Returning

Charles Hagen, who was killed by a freight train on the Omaha railroad about three miles south of Blair Monday morning, was 41 years old and a baker by trade. He had worked for James Roberts at Blair for eighteen months and was an expert at his trade, coming there from Denver, but claimed he had lost his family and a successful business in the San Francisco earthquake. He did not seem to care to live after his loss and so expressed himself. He was last seen Sunday morning and filled up with whiskey, and evidently was bent on laying in a stock, as he left Calhoun with a good load and his coat sleeves were found with a rope. Hagen was a German and claimed he had a brother-in-law, Steve Deering, in Omaha, a brother in Dayton, O., and a mother in Cincinnati. The body was almost ground to pieces. The remains were brought to Blair in a gunny sack.

MAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Loss of Position and Domestic Troubles Given as Cause.

F. L. Zeigler, a traveling man from Lincoln, selling McCaskey credit registers, attempted suicide at the Hampton hotel in Holdrege Monday morning by taking laudanum, but failed in his purpose through the timely assistance of physicians, who pumped him out. He registered on Aug. 12, and the manager for Nebraska came and disappeared, and this, coupled with domestic troubles, is alleged as the cause for his act. He gave the check for his baggage, which consisted of samples, to N. C. Jones, manager of the hotel, and told him to keep it until he received an amount of $100. He left the hotel and was seen at the Hampton hotel in Holdrege Monday morning by taking laudanum. Physicians were at once summoned and the man's life was saved. He says while the doctors failed him this time, that he will yet finish the job.

Mischnick and his mail order bride came to Gage county to live, and a few weeks after their arrival in Nebraska the woman disappeared with her mother and son. Mischnick followed them to Lincoln, where they were arrested for operating a marriage bureau with intent to defraud. They were taken back to Indianopolis, where they were found guilty and given a heavy fine and jail sentence.

DOSE OF ACID KILLS BABY.

Mother of Little One Arrested, Charged of Being Responsible.

Lenore T. Allen, of Omaha, a 18-year-old, died from carbolic acid burns Thursday morning. The father, George Allen, was away at the time when the mother reported the discovery that the child was dead. He was called home. A physician was called, who reported on the death certificate that the child had died from inhaling carbolic acid fumes.

Before the burial, however, the neighbors became suspicious and warned the police, who Friday morning began an investigation. An autopsy was performed at G. H. Broder's undertaking parlors by Drs. Koslosky and Lavender. It was discovered beyond a doubt that the death was due to acute poisoning from drinking carbolic acid. About two ounces of the drug was found in the child's stomach. There were some burns on the body, and a bruise on the arm, indicating a heavy grip or blow.

The police investigated all the known circumstances, and after this had followed the body of the child to its burial at Laurel Hill cemetery she was placed under arrest. She was an inmate of an insane asylum for nearly a year, but was released from the asylum as cured nearly three years ago. Since that time the child was born.

The father's and mother's stories agree in part, but vary in some details. The father told the police that he knew the woman had bought carbolic acid and said she intended to use it for bed bugs. He said he wakened up about 12 o'clock Thursday night and found the woman sprinkling the acid on the clothing of the bed.

About 10 o'clock in the morning the woman was playing with a neighbor's baby, as her husband relates it, and looking up thought her own child on the bed looked unusual. She went to it and found it dead. She told the physician she had only used the acid on the pillows and the child had died of the fumes. She told a later story that the child had got the bottle and drank the acid, and still a later one that the bottle was put where the child could not get it. She refused to talk to the chief of police after her arrest.

The bottles which contained the acid were not found, though she said she had given them to her brother-in-law. These bottles were found to contain not carbolic acid, but alcohol. According to the physicians who made the post-mortem, enough acid was used to kill half a dozen children.

COMMERCIAL FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The steady improvement in commercial credits is emphasized by a decline in failures to the lowest level reported this year, and the volume of payments through the banks again makes a closer comparison. A copious rainfall has removed apprehensions as to the corn crop, and the position now affords more encouragement for splendid results. Movements of commodities show recovery in some important lines and there is further reduction in idle cars of the Chicago roads, heavier forwarding of finished products, merchandise and the leading foodstuffs drawing more largely upon rolling stock.

Activity in the leading industries is stimulated by a wider aggregate of demands, and some gain is noted in outputs of steel mills, furnaces, forging and heavy hardware. Specifications have extended for structural materials and current book-ings are good in wire, electrical supplies and machinery. Heavy construction and building needs become more encouraging, the work in sight assuring increasing employment at fabricating plants, planing mills and lumber yards.

Outside demand is seen to be strengthening for forest products, hides, leather and wool, and prices generally sustain firmness for the raw materials. More capacity and workers are engaged in the factory districts, and rising pay rolls add to recovery in the purchasing power. Money is quoted at 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent, the lowest discount rate in some years, and this favorable banking condition supports manufacturers in their disposition to advance industrial efforts.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 16, against 21 last week and 22 a year ago. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 3, against 4 last week and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Trade is of fair volume, crops have made further progress, corn especially being helped by rains, and collections show tangible improvement, though backwardness is still a subject of complaint here. All advisers agree that buyers are in the various markets in large, if not record, numbers, but caution and conservatism are strongly apparent. Industrial reports are as favorable as for some weeks past. There is still slow, gradual improvement in the iron and steel and allied trades, though pig iron is lower this week, and as southern lumber prices are higher there is talk of many mills being again set in motion. Still there are numerous reports of curbed output, and textile lines are leading centers are running only 50 to 60 per cent of capacity. The wool trade has a cheerful tone and good interest is displayed by large and small buyers.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending Aug. 13 number 249, against 235 last week, 148 in the like week of 1907, 143 in 1906, 147 in 1905 and 205 in 1904. Canadian failures for the same period number 31, against 19 last week and 30 in the corresponding week of last year.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.
